ON WEDNESDAYS WE... TALK ABOUT ADVANCED MOOT COURT 2017!

Can a state enact a Cyberbullying Prevention Act that regulates online speech? Can a police officer search computer files that a school official has already viewed?

You tell us!

Regina George wants to dismiss the case on First Amendment grounds or, at least, suppress the shocking images found on her computer. The State of Tennabama is aiming for a felony conviction.

Which side will YOU represent?

Get your co-counsel, draft your brief, and prepare for oral arguments in front of the Supreme Court for a chance at getting the win!

The Advanced Competition problem is the same problem used in Appellate Advocacy, so you are strongly encouraged to enroll in the course. There are still spots available for the Fall 2017 semester. You will learn how to write an appellate brief and hone your oral advocacy skills—both are important for future attorneys.

You can enroll on myMemphis with CRN 90187.

For questions about the competition or the course, e-mail Associate Justice of the Advanced Competition, Whitney Trujillo, at wpsipple@memphis.edu or Director of the Advocacy Program, Barbara Kritchevsky, at bkrtchvs@memphis.edu.
